

September 25, 2017

We know the deadline for abstracts for the 2018 conference is still a bit in the future (October 15th), but we also realize that some kinds of hurricane-related damage can seriously impede library and internet access, as well as destroy houses and university buildings. If your school year is starting under these anxious conditions, please contact Jamie Reed at conference@childlitassn.org. We can arrange an extension on that deadline for you.

Take Care,
2018 Conference Planning Committee & Organizers